We have another session scheduled due to the over-whelming response earlier in the year. If April registrants wish to attend again a discount rate is offered. This session will be more 'hands-on' workshop style, with time for discussion.

This Study Day is scheduled during QLD SCHOOL HOLIDAYS so we hope this appeals to those who found non-school holidays difficult. Please come along to learn about early level eye-gaze, transitioning to eye-gaze access for AAC, The Grid 2 and similar progression for other access methods, taking into account language level and development. General principals and Assistive Technology also relevant to computer savvy users with literacy skills.

Clinicians, therapists in Private Practice, parents, teachers, teacher assistants, allied health assistants, adult service/instructors, student Occupational Therapists, student Speech Pathologists, welcome!

Allora 2 Leaping to popularity!

The Allora 2 with funky detachable screen, high quality Australian voices, inbuilt-scanning option, keyguard and other features is increasing in popularity as more people trial this model. The larger keyboard lends itself to touch-typing, and the moulded keyboard can easily be wiped clean. We find it always takes about 12 months or so for a new model to find its place in the market. Allora 2 is now walking and talking being just over 1 year of age!

Detachable 2nd display is called EDDY.

Also a speaker. Bluetooth connectivity to 10 metres.

Leather carry bag is supplied with the Allora 2.

Mounting plate available for Daessy quick release hub.
